system to measure the real time status of crops and informing the farmer about it.

An intelligent crop protection system used to sense the movement of animals before entering the fields and also it improve the productivity of crops.

lot features of managing the crops production in precision agriculture optimizes the quality of crops by applying required nutrients.

Iot based smart agriculture product are designed to help monitor the crop fields and control the motors using mobile application.